UKATA Non-Licensable Work With Asbestos Including NNLW Training

Non Licensed Asbestos Removal training is aimed at those whose work will knowingly disturb low risk asbestos containing materials. The course allows the likes of maintenance staff, engineers, plumbers and demolition workers to work with and around asbestos containing materials rather than preventing work from being continued.

A training needs analysis will be carried out prior to the course to establish the types of asbestos containing materials likely to be encountered and the kind of work that will be undertaken. Our training is not “set in stone”; we tailor our practical session towards the specific type of work and material likely to be encountered.
